BRAVE GIRL

There was a wooden cart with wheels. It was standing on a sandy slope. A group of children were playing near it. When they got tired of chasing each other, they climbed on to the cart and started jumping and dancing on it. The jumping and dancing of the children on the cart rocked it dangerously. Suddenly, the wheels of the cart slipped. The cart with the six children still on it started rolling down the slope towards the river. The cart fell into the water with a loud thud. The children started screaming with fear. They did not know how to swim.

Nearby, a girl named Laxmi, was washing clothes at the bank of the river. She heard their screams and raced to the spot. Many grown up people quickly gathered on the bank of the river but no one tried to save the drowning children.

Laxmi jumped into the river and brought two children back safely to the bank. Then she jumped into the water again and saved two more children. As she got ready to jump into the river the third time, her brother came running to help her. Then they saved the remaining two children. The brave little girl had saved six children from death in the water. She was awarded the National Bravery Award on 25 January, 2005 by the Prime Minister of India, Dr. Manmohan Singh.

THE LION MAKERS

Once four young Brahmins lived in Bhojpur. Three of them were very learned. But the fourth avoided learning books. However, he had much common sense.

The four decided to travel together to make money. The first three were sure of success because of their learning. On their way through a forest, they saw bones of a dead lion. The first said, "I can join the bones". The second said, "I can supply flesh and blood". The third said, "I can give it life".

The first and the second did their jobs. Then the third started. The fourth man told him not to give life to the lion, If the lion became alive, it would kill them all.

But the third did not listen to the advice. So the fourth asked him to wait till he had climbed a tree. The lion came alive soon after. It killed the three learned Brahmins. But the fourth was saved through his common sense. Book learning without sense can only bring unhappiness.

29. Read the passage below and answer the question that follows:

Scooter's Good Book

Scooter was a very nice dog. She was the oldest dog in her family. She had two younger sisters. They drove Scooter crazy every day. She tried her best to get along with them, and not to argue over toys. It was very hard. They wanted to argue every day. Their Mom did not like this. She got angry when Scooter's sisters argued over toys. One day Scooter went with her Mom to the store. Her sisters did not go. They were in trouble for arguing with each other. Scooter smiled happily when she jumped in the car. It was fun to go with her Mom to the store. She sat very still while her Mom put on her seat belt. Scooter looked out of the window and smiled at her sisters as her Mom backed out of the driveway.

Mom and Scooter went to the store. Scooter was very nice and polite to the people in the store. Scooter's mom was very proud of her. It was time to go home. They got back in the car and headed for home. Scooter's Mom leaned over and gave Scooter a big hug and a book about dogs. Scooter was very happy with her gift. She went straight in the house and jumped on the sofa and read all afternoon. She did not ever hear her sisters fussing that they did not get a new book. She was lost in her good book and her memories of a great day.

WHO HAS SEEN THE WIND

Who has seen the wind?
Neither I nor you;
But when the leaves hang trembling
The wind is passing through.
Who has seen the wind?
Neither you nor I;

But when the trees bow down their heads
The wind is passing by.

(Christina Rossetti)
