27. Read the passage given below and answer the question that follows:

Passage -

Most kinds of mammals live on the land. But few of them such as seals, walruses, whales and dolphins make their homes in the sea. Some of these animals can stay under water for long periods of time. But, like all mammals, they are air-breathers. They must come to the surface to breathe from time to time. Whales and dolphins look so much like fish that many people think they are fish. But they are mammals. They have hair, they are warm blooded and their babies drink milk from their mother's breast.

The dolphins and porpoises are really small whales. Most people can't tell a dolphin and porpoise apart, but there is a way. The snout of a dolphin is beak like and it almost seems to be smiling. A porpoise has a rounded snout. Dolphins are also much more playful than porpoises. They often leap out of the water. Seals, sea lions and walruses belong to a second group of sea mammals. All these animals are called pinnipeds which mean 'fin-foot'. Their fins are simply flattened feet.

These sea mammals are very different from the ones in the first group. Although they spend much of their time in the water, yet they are able to come on to the land and waddle about on their fin feet.

Pinnipeds means

- A. Fin foot
- B. Pointed foot
- C. Pointed toes
- D. Fins

28. Read the story given below and answer the following question:

Passage -

It was a warm, spring Saturday morning, but that wasn't the only reason Jim woke up in a good mood. He was going to the nursery with his father. Jim loved gardening, and Mr. Ito's nursery was Jim's favourite store.

Jim could see from the parking lot that the flowers and shrubs at the nursery were already in full bloom. There were yellow daffodils and tulips in a range of colors from white to purple so dark they were almost black. Jim loved the bright green of the new leaves on the trees. It had been a long, cold winter, and the flowers cheered him up.

Jim's father rubbed his hands together. "Let's go do some shopping," he said. Jim pushed the shopping cart while his father piled things into it. They bought a bag of potting soil. Jim loved the way it smelled. They walked down rows of plants and seedlings, and piled pots into their cart. They bought petunias and geraniums for the hanging baskets they made every year. They bought ferns and flowers for their deck. They bought fertilizer.

Jim's father held up a birdhouse. "Should we get this?" he asked Jim. Jim shook his head. "Let's make our own," he said.

They bought vegetable seeds for their garden. They got radishes, carrots, zucchini and red beet seeds. They bought trays of young tomato plants and lettuce. "Are you sure we should get lettuce?" Jim asked his father. "Remember how the slugs ate it all last year?" His father sighed and nodded. "I'm going to spread sawdust this year. I heard that keeps the slugs away." After Jim and his father filled their cart, they parked it in the shade and strolled around the nursery looking at all the shrubs and trees. "I think we should plant an apple tree this year," said Jim.

"I agree," said his father. "There is no room in the car this time, but may be we can come back next week and pick one out." They paid and drove home, and spent the rest of the day working in the yard. Jim was tired when he went to bed, but he was happy and the yard looked great. He couldn't wait to eat the vegetables.

What is a synonym for nursery, as used in this story?

- A. Day care center
- B. Garden center
- C. Hospital
- D. Dairy

29. Read the poem given below and answer the question that follows:

Where the pools are bright and deep
Where the grey trout lies asleep;
Up the river and o'er the lea,
That's the way for Billy and me.
Where the blackbird sings the latest,
Where the hawthorn blooms the sweetest
Where the nestlings chirp and flee,
That's the way for Billy and me.
Where the mower's mow the cleanest,
Where the hay lies thick and greenest,
There to track the homeward bee,
That's the way for Billy and me.
Where the hazel bank is steepest
Where the shadow falls the deepest,
Where the clustering nuts fall free,
That's the way for Billy and me...
